About Melbourne

Melbourne is the capital city of the state of Victoria and has the second highest population of any city in Australia. It is a leading financial centre in Australia as well as in the Asia Pacific. The Economist Intelligence Unit has ranked Melbourne as the World's most livable city since 2011 (ranking in the top three every year since 2002). Melbourne is often referred to as the Cultural Capital of Australia with a strong emphasis on theatre and the Arts as well as having a worldwide reputation for the quality and diversity of its restaurants. The City of Melbourne respectfully acknowledges that it is located on the traditional land of the Kulin Nation. This special place is now known by its European name of Melbourne. Today, Melbourne is one of the great multicultural cities of the world and is a significant meeting place. Melbourne has always been an important meeting place and location for events of social, educational, sporting and cultural significance. Since its European settlement in 1835, different nationalities have migrated to Melbourne at various stages of its history and have contributed significantly to the city's growing identity. In Victoria, the public health department conducts daily surveillance on infectious diseases to pinpoint outbreaks and to prevent the spread of infection.
