About Melbourne

Melbourne, city, capital of the state of Victoria, Australia. It is located at the head of Port Phillip Bay, on the south-eastern coast. It is the core of an extensive metropolitan area the world's most southerly with a population of more than 1,000,000. In Australia it is second only to Sydney in population, and there is a good-natured rivalry between the two cities.

Melbourne city has many beautiful parks, and the person with an eye for architectural detail and history can find much that is varied and attractive.
