Invitation

Dear Attendees,

Conference Series llc LTD welcomes you to attend the 2nd International Conference on Ecology, Evolution and Conservation Biology during August 19-20, 2019 at London, UK. We cordially invite all the participants who are interested in sharing their knowledge and research in the arena of Soil Microbiology, Ecology and Biochemistry.

Ecology 2019 anticipates more than 200 participants around the globe with thought provoking keynote lectures, oral and poster presentations. The attending delegates include editorial board members of related open access journals.

This is an excellent opportunity for the delegates from universities, institutes and industries to interact with the world class scientists. The intending participants can confirm their participation by registering for the conference along with your colleagues. Avail the delegate early bird offer. The main theme of the conference is “The future of Ecosystem, Ecosystem for future”.

As the premier event, we have developed a program with your interests in mind. We have not only increased the number of opportunities for you to network with colleagues from across the world but also introduced more focused sessions that will feature cutting edge presentations, special panel discussions, and livelier interaction with industry leaders and experts.

Life is full of give and take. Make it count in your professional life. Attend the Ecology Conference to network with your peers, exchange expertise and experiences, and arm yourself with the latest information to take your department to the next level. We look forward to personally welcoming you to London this August.

Sincerely,

Ecology 2019

About London

London, the capital of England and the United Kingdom, is a 21st-century city with history stretching back to Roman times. At its centre stand the imposing Houses of Parliament, the iconic 'Big Ben' clock tower and Westminster Abbey, site of British monarch coronations. Across the Thames River, the London Eye observation wheel provides panoramic views of the South Bank cultural complex, and the entire city.

London generates about 20 per cent of the UK's GDP (or $600 billion in 2014); while the economy of the London metropolitan area—the largest in Europe—generates about 30 per cent of the UK's GDP (or an estimated $669 billion in 2005). London has five major business districts: the City, Westminster, Canary Wharf, Camden & Islington and Lambeth & Southwark. One way to get an idea of their relative importance is to look at relative amounts of office space Greater London had 27 million m² of office space in 2001, and the City contains the most space, with 8 million m² of office space. London has some of the highest real estate prices in the world. London is the world's most expensive office market for the last three years according to world property journal (2015) report. As of 2015 the residential property in London is worth $2.2 trillion – same value as that of Brazil annual GDP. The city has the highest property prices of any European city according to the Office for National Statistics and the European Office of Statistics. On average the price per square metre in central London is €24, 252 (April 2014). This is higher than the property prices in other G8 European capital cities; Berlin €3,306, Rome €6,188 and Paris €11, 229
