

11th International Conference on
CLINICAL MICROBIOLOGY AND INFECTIOUS DISEASES

May 27-28, 2022
Rome, Italy

11th International Conference on Clinical Microbiology and Infectious Diseases

27 May 2022

Session Introduction

09:00-09:30 AM	Title: Laboratory confirmed salmonella typhi cases among patients attending busia county hospitals between the year 2015-2022 Oscar Gaunya, Ministry of Health, Kenya
09:30-10:00 AM	Title: Prevalence and antibiotics resistance of uropathogenic Staphylococci, Casablanca, Morocco, a retrospective cross-sectional study Anibk Rafik, Sultan Moulay Slimane University, Morocco
10:00-10:30 AM	Title: Fever is not a symptom in covid-19. None of the diseases require fever as its symptom K. M. Yacob , Marma Health Centre, India
10:30-11:00 AM	Title: Measuring the benefits of mass vaccination programs in the United States Hector Magno, Independent Computer Scientist, USA
11:00-11:30 AM	Title: Antimicrobial consumption in the intensive care unit leads to resistance development in bacteria involved in pulmonary infections Ovidiu Zlatian, University of Medicine and Pharmacy, Romania
Conference End	