Why Sydney, Australia?

The current survey on number of persons with cardiovascular and cardiac disease manifestations in the Australia says that, although the mortality from cardiovascular disease (CVD) in our country has declined, its disease burden remains high. Council on Cardiovascular Nursing and Allied Professions (CCNAP) main objective is to support nurses and allied health professionals throughout Oceania to deliver the best possible care to patients with cardiovascular disease and their families. Nurses and allied health professionals play a pivotal role in Cardiac care. Interventions developed, tested and implemented by nurses and allied health professionals can assist patients to prevent, adjust to and recover from Cardiac illness. In CCNAP you will find a team of dedicated professionals, eager to support you in the delivery of excellent cardiovascular care. Whether you are working in practice, education or research, they welcome you and encourage you to join they Council. They are committed to your professional development.
