About Ho Chi Minh

Ho Chi Minh City is the Vietnam's largest city and is located in the south-eastern region of Vietnam, 1,760 km south of Hanoi. It is populated by about 12 million people making it the most populous metropolitan area in Vietnam. It contains 8.34% of the population of Vietnam by taking up just 0.6% of the country's land area. Accounting for a large proportion of the economy of Vietnam, Ho Chi Minh City stood as the economic center of Vietnam with 20.2% of its GDP, 27.9% of industrial output and 34.9% of the FDI projects in the country by the end of 2005. GDP per capita reached $2,800, compared to the country's average level of $1,042. By the end of 2014, the city's GDP grew 9.5%, with GDP per capita reaching $5100. The health care system of the city is relatively developed involving the top medical facilities in South-East Asia, with a chain of about 100 government owned hospitals or medical centers and dozens of privately owned clinics. It has several Neurological associations and Neuroscience research centers located in and around Ho Chi Minh City.
