About Melbourne

Melbourne is the capital and most populous city in the Australian state of Victoria, and the second most populous city in Australia. Melbourne is the coastal capital of the southeastern Australian state of Victoria. At the city's centre is the modern Federation Square development, with plazas, bars, and restaurants by the Yarra River. It was named "Melbourne" by the Governor of New South Wales, Sir Richard Bourke, in honour of the British Prime Minister of the day, William Lamb, 2nd Viscount Melbourne. In the Southbank area, the Melbourne Arts Precinct is the site of Arts Centre Melbourne– a performing arts complex – and the National Gallery of Victoria, with Australian and indigenous art. Melbourne rates highly in education, entertainment, health care, research and development, tourism and sport, making it the world's most livable city—for the sixth year in a row in 2016, according to the Economist Intelligence Unit.
