London is the capital and most populous city of England and the United Kingdom. London is a leading global city, in the arts, commerce, education, entertainment, fashion, finance, healthcare, media, professional services, research and development, tourism, and transport. It is one of the world’s leading financial centres and has the fifth- or sixth-largest metropolitan area GDP in the world. London is a world cultural capital. It is the world’s most-visited city as measured by international arrivals and has the world’s largest city airport system measured by passenger traffic. London’s universities form the largest concentration of higher education institutes in Europe, and a 2014 report placed it first in the world university rankings.

According to the report London also ranks first in the world in software, multimedia development and design, and shares first position in technology readiness. London has the greatest concentration of top class universities in the world and its international student population of around 110,000 is larger than any other city in the world. London is home to five major medical schools – Barts and The London School of Medicine and Dentistry, King’s College London School of Medicine (the largest medical school in Europe), Imperial College School of Medicine, UCL Medical School and St George’s, University of London – and has a large number of affiliated teaching hospitals. It is also a major centre for biomedical research, and three of the UK’s eight academic health science centres are based in the city – Imperial College Healthcare, King’s Health Partners and UCL Partners (the largest such centre in Europe).
