About Paris, France

Paris, the cosmopolitan capital of France and one of Europe's largest cities, wherein the total Population accounts for 2.2 million people in the centre of the city, while 12 million people are residing in total in the main metropolitan area. Being located in the north of France onto the shores of the river Seine, it has a very well deserved reputation image of being the most beautiful as well as romantic of all cities concerned, brimming with historic associations and remaining vastly influential in the realms of culture, art, fashion, food and design and lots more. Being usually called up as the City of Lights, alongside the Capital of Fashion, it paves its way out to be the home to the world's top elegant and most luxurious fashion designers and cosmetics, to site as, Chanel, Dior, Yves Saint-Laurent, Guerlain, Lancôme, L'Oréal, Clarins. A large part of town, including the River Seine, is a UNESCO World Heritage Site. Furthermore, it also has got the record of possessing the second highest number of Michelin restaurants in the world (after Tokyo). In addition to the above-mentioned, it is also noticed to contain numerous iconic landmarks, such as the world's most taken in tourist site the Eiffel Tower, the Arc de Triomphe, the Notre-Dame Cathedral, the Louvre Museum, Moulin Rouge, and Lido, as a result, turning it into the most popular tourist destination in the world with approximately 45 million tourists visiting annually. Transport visits are given by different organizations: City Rama, Vision, and Paris bus are a couple of substantial companies. The administration of France is to a great extent communist. Each French native is managed medicinal services given by the state. Charges are high—at times very nearly 60 percent of aggregate wage—however, the legislature gives most social administrations. Life expectancy for men is seventy-four years and for ladies, it is 82 years. There is one doctor for every 361 individuals, and mortality is 5 per one hundred live births.
