4th International Conference on Spine Surgery

November 1-2, 2018
Brussels, Belgium
Dear Attendees,

We are glad to announce the initiation of 4th International Conference on Spine Surgery in Brussels, Belgium on November 01-02, 2018. We welcome all interested participants to attend Spinal Surgery 2018 to help encourage the safe practices and advancements in the field of spinal surgery. The theme of the conference is “Divisions & Integrations of Advanced Spine Surgery.”

Organized with the collaboration of organizing committee members, academicians, business professionals, and editorial board members. The program agenda prepared includes all the current research trends, futuristic technology in spinal surgery, limitations and related topics that are on the forefront of research.

Spinal surgery 2018 brings together active researchers, doctors, critics, academicians, students, and industrialists to exchange ideas, communicate and discuss research findings on new advancements in technologies, imaging, diagnosis, applications and treatment in the fields of spinal surgery.

At Spinal surgery 2018, we have developed a cutting-edge program prioritising the recent advancements and limitations in the field of spine surgery and the role it plays with other related study fields. We also would highlight the increase in the therapeutic uses of imaging in and diagnosis. We have increased the networking opportunities, focused sessions, student-professor interactions, symposiums and workshops with special emphasis on panel discussions.

Sincerely,

Spinal surgery 2018

Brussels, the fortuitous capital of Europe is a hidden architectural treasure and the world capital of chocolates and pralines. It has grown remarkably from a trifling rural settlement on the banks of river Senne to an ultra-modern financially important city and a major center for European and International politics with headquarters for all major EU administrative institutions, besides NATO is also headquartered in Brussels. Brussels is sometimes referred to as the de facto capital of the European Union. Traditionally a Dutch-speaking region, Brussels had undergone a language shift to French in the late 19th century. Today, Brussels is a bilingual city with French being the major language and Dutch being the second language. Brussels is derivative of old Dutch, Broekzele, translating to Marsh(Broek) and Home (zele) or, home in the marsh. The identity of Brussels is its rich folklore, culture and traditions.

Brussels is a food-haven. Belgian waffles, chocolates, pralines, French fries, beers are all unique to Brussels. Even a sprout has been named of Brussels, called the Brussels sprouts. Belgian cuisine is one of the best as per the global food connoisseurs. Belgian foods have a characteristic French and Flemish combination. Re-owned Chocolatiers in Brussels are Godiva, Leonidas and Neuhaus. Chocolates are the precious gems of Brussels. The Sablon district in Brussels has numerous chocolatiers to visit, with Pierre Marcolini being the leading chocolatier and Wittamer— the master of chocolate art. You will also find numerous chocolate boutiques viz., Belvas and 100% organic pralines, Léonidas and Passion Chocolat, which is on its way to rediscover lost flavors, Bruyerre sells delightful handmade pralines, and Godiva with its classic chocolates with elusive tastes. The Belgian Chocolate Village is Belgium's largest museum dedicated to chocolate. Belgian beer which is the prominent lambic style of beer is predominately brewed in Brussels, and Kriek, a cherry lambic style of beer are unique to Brussels and are found in every restaurant or bar throughout Belgium.
