

Dear friends and colleagues,

On behalf of Organizing Committee of Dermatology and Cosmetology conferences, it is indeed an honor and privilege to welcome you all, for this prestigious “8th International Conference of Dermatology and Cosmetology”, I would like to thank the organizers for giving me this opportunity to share with you the topics and advances in the field of Dermatology and Cosmetics during this event.

There have been tremendous changes in the field of diagnostic and therapeutic dermatology for the past decades. We have all been confronted to therapeutic challenges in chronic inflammatory diseases in dermatology. Psoriasis among other skin diseases has now a large range of therapeutic options with many studies backing up science and monitoring the safety of our patients. Biologic treatments are becoming the mainstay treatment for a lot of chronic skin conditions such as atopic dermatitis, alopecia areata, ... And let's not underestimate the advances in skin oncology with targeted therapies, a huge step for dermato oncology. Moreover, teledermatology and new methods of imaging are valuable tools for us, dermatologists, to become more precise and accurate in our diagnosis. They allow us to better assess our patients' skin diseases, such as skin cancers and allow us better monitoring with less morbidity.

Cosmetology in Dermatology is a unique part of dermatology as it may link all fields of dermatology. We have many tools to help our patients have good healing outcome and more visible improvement of their skin condition. Cosmetology embraces topical, oral treatments but moreover new technologies such as lasers and other physical devices to help our patients have the best clinical outcome.

As a passionate dermatologist, the conference theme of “Research and Innovation in Dermatology and Cosmetology”, is a great opportunity for all colleagues to meet in a scientific exchange platform and share the advances in our field and discuss the knowledge gaps. International experts in Dermatology and Cosmetology with a large experience will share their research and clinical perspectives during this interesting conference, which we hope, be of great interest in our clinical practice. Sharing and exchanging our personal clinical perspective with worldwide experts, will make this conference an enriching experience for all of us.
