12th International Conference on

Pharmaceutical Chemistry

Dr. Bhaskar Chakraborty

It's a great privilege for me to inform the fraternity of Chemistry and Pharmaceutical Chemistry Professors, educationalists and researchers that 12th Pharmaceutical Chemistry Conference will be held at Berlin, Germany on 20th & 21st May 2019 organized by the Meetings International. I had been invited by this organization at the 2nd Pharmaceutical Chemistry Conference held at Paris, France in July 2018 as "Invited Speaker" and I must say it was a great success and I had a wonderful experience indeed. The most important features noticed in this conference was the "Exchange of scientific thoughts and ideas" among the participants and also many extraordinary presentations and deliberations by the eminent scientists from all over the world. The organizers handled the conference very nicely and they were very cooperative and friendly.

As an organizing committee member of the 12th Pharmaceutical Chemistry Conference I would like to take the privilege to invite all interested professors, researchers and scientists working in the field of chemistry and pharmaceutical chemistry to take active part in this conference. From my personal experience, I believe you will have a great time in not only presenting your research contributions but also you may enrich yourself by exchanging more advanced developments in this field of chemistry and pharmaceutical chemistry
